

woodro

Woodro is the preferred timber option for the public area seating where the beauty of natural wood is required. Ideally suited for outdoor use by virtue of its hard wearing iroko timber seats. Applications include waiting areas, transport concourses and recreational uses.

Designed by Robin Day, the contoured individual seat places are mounted on a tough steel base, making it suitable for both indoor and outdoor installations. Timber is sourced from sustainable hard wood forests.

Options include:

- Units of 2 - 5 seat places (single sided)
- With or without arms
- Extensive range of frame colours
